You are invited to join our virtual Climate Crisis panel discussion on Wednesday 27th October from 8.30am to 9.30am.

For Savings Group members climate change is not just the next emergency - it is a real challenge communities are addressing right now.

Our panel will explore what climate change looks like for communities across Africa and how we can ensure that conversations on climate change lead to meaningful action when summits close.

The three experts joining us will be: Phillip Macloud (Team Environment Kenya), Claire Nasike (Greenpeace Africa) and Jackie Opera (Africa Science Focus). Their unique expertise will help you understand the complex issues surrounding climate change.

Fill in this form on our website by 26th October to reserve your place.

Phillip Macloud is the CEO of Team Environment Kenya. Team Environment Kenya is a community-based organisation working on reforestation, agroforestry, conservation agriculture and tree planting.

Claire Nasike is a Food For Life Campaigner with Greenpeace Africa and founder of the Hummingbird Foundation, an initiative that connects school children to nature by establishing organic food and botanical gardens.

Jackie Opara-Fatoye is the regional deputy editor of SciDev.Net Sub-Saharan Africa and editor of the weekly podcast Africa Science Focus. Africa Science Focus shares the impact that science is having on health, technology and agriculture in Africa.
